THE TOTEM

1939

Theme: Reflections

*"This learned I from the shadow of a tree
That to and fro did sway against a wall,
Our shadow selves, our influence, may fall
Where we ourselves can never be."*

VOLUME XIX

PUBLISHED BY THE
STUDENTS OF PORTLAND HIGH SCHOOL
PORTLAND, MAINE

Foreword

*"And the scores of loyal hearts
With the spirit she imparts
Sing the praises of our Portland High."*

As this year marks the seventy-fifth anniversary of Portland High School, we have designed our TOTEM to act as a magic mirror which shall reflect in its pages not only the achievements of the class of 1939, but also the spirit of P. H. S.

Of the seventy-five graduating classes only nineteen have had the privilege of enjoying a TOTEM, but all have seen the history of our country unfolding before them, have witnessed many unforgettable events, and faced seemingly insurmountable problems.

In 1863, we were in the midst of a Civil War when this school was erected under the guidance of the principal, William P. Tucker. It was on the present site, but the prejudice against co-education was so strong that a brick wall divided the building, the girls having classes on one side, the boys on the other, and, although a door was cut through in 1864, "boys and girls were not turned loose together, nor allowed to intermingle without restrictions until 1876."

Although not destroyed in the "Great Fire of 1866," the building was burned in 1911, but was rebuilt, and, with minor alterations, was used until 1918 when the present building was erected, using the old building as a center wing. This year saw our hearts gladdened by the Armistice ending the World War. Dedication was in 1919, and in 1920 fire destroyed the old wing, which was then rebuilt to conform with the new architecture. And now 1939 finds war talk again the major interest of the world. But even as this struggle of the world has been continued by citizens who believe in the institutions of democracy, so the struggle for education has been continued in Portland by faculties, parents, and students who believe in the strength of education to combat the forces of danger to our country and homes.

In 1794, the founders of our first Academy were brave pioneers who had to fight prejudice. In 1850, higher education for girls was under fire. Again in 1863 the advocates of co-education were faced by disapproval and bitter resentment. Surmounting all these obstacles, the present Portland High School, the largest educational unit in Maine, has risen to a place of respect in the eyes of all as throughout the years—

*"She has guided steps of youth
In the paths of right and truth."*

So with the thousands who have gone before, we too may say:

*"Shine Portland High, in thy glory,
For the youth of a future day!"*

Dedication

Although the complexities of modern civilization, most bewildering at times, often compel us to live as if time were soon to cease, yet occasionally we do find ourselves indulging in retrospection or turning back the pages of history in quiet meditation.

In 1632, education was a negligible factor in Aucocisco, now Portland; 1820, however, had witnessed real educational development, which was later climaxed in 1863 by the erection of a coeducational High School, a new departure. So as this year brings to a close seventy-five years of service, we pause to dedicate this, our 1939 TOTEM.

We pay homage to those images of the past, fused into one vivid and magnificent entity in which sadness, which only made the happiness sweeter, is intermingled with carefree laughter, serious study, and the pursuit of high ideals.

To those seventy-five classes who have "passed out of record into renown" we give thanks for the splendid traditions, inheritance, and high resolves they have left us, and for the noble services they have rendered.

To the little building of yesteryear which forms but a small unit of today's mighty educational plant; to the halls and classrooms that have sheltered us and given us so many happy and profitable moments on which to base our ideals and future aspirations, we dedicate our everlasting loyalty.

Our highest esteem and sincere respect we tender to our Principal, Arthur W. Lowe, and to our submaster, Lucien P. Libby, who with open hearts and friendly guidance have led us forward in the paths of right and truth that we may go forth well-equipped into the unpredictable world of tomorrow.

We dedicate our heartfelt gratitude to our Dean, Miss Lehan, and to those capable members of the faculty who through their scholarly training and wise counsel have sincerely tried to give us an insight into the radiant life that we may enjoy and understand its meanings, and complexities.

To those members of the underclasses to whom we look for the future, we hand on the torch. May their works be definite; their vision clear.

May lofty courage enable those classes, who through all the coming years, in new vigor and valor, dream their splendid dreams, to maintain the traditions and the mental and spiritual aspirations of the past that the scope of achievement may be more worthy with each succeeding year.

To the true spirit of Portland High — that spirit of democracy, of friendliness, of undying loyalty, we pledge our allegiance, promising to uphold the traditions of preceding graduates — that of living noble lives.

So we dedicate this, our 1939 TOTEM, as a reflection of our ideals.

"In the east the waters play on the shores of Casco Bay,
Where giant ships of commerce come and go."

"I can see the breezy dome of groves,
The shadows of Deering's Woods."

"And catch, in sudden gleams,
The sheen of the far-surrounding seas,
And islands that were the Hesperides
Of all my boyish dreams."

"The snow had begun in the gloaming,
And busily all the night
Had been heaping field and highway
With a silence deep and white."

"Here friendship's bonds are welded true,
And hearts with joy unite."

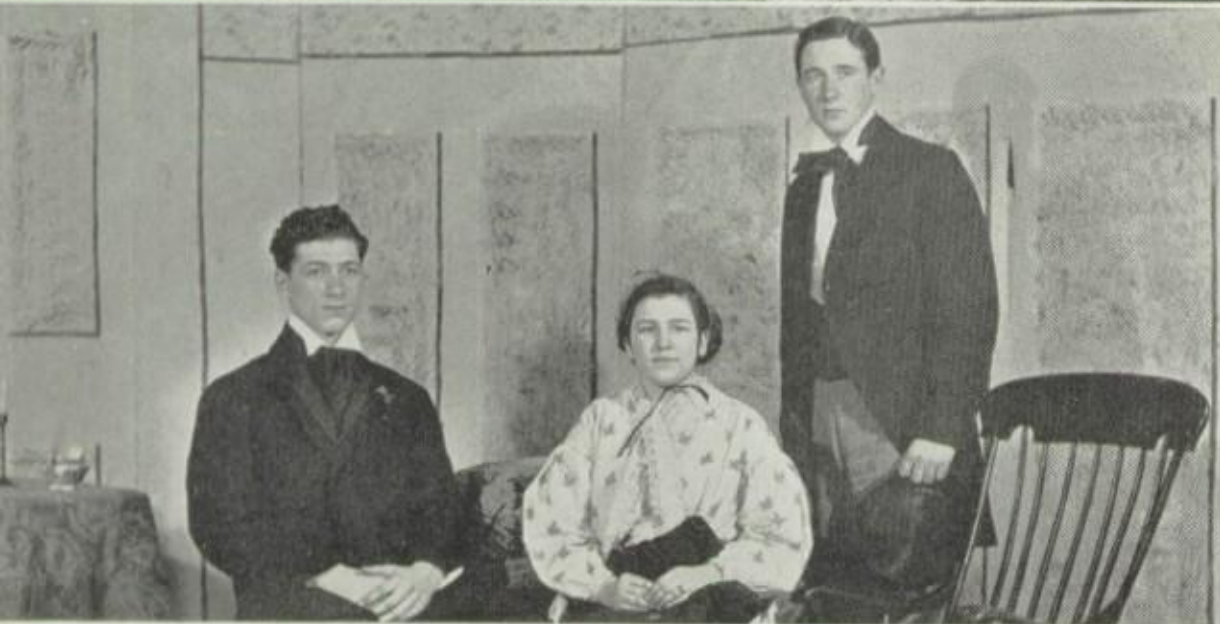

"She is guiding steps of youth
In the paths of right and truth."

"And the scores of loyal hearts,
With the spirit she imparts,
Sing the praises of old Portland High."

"Shine, Portland High, in thy glory,
For the youth of a future day."

Senior Reflections

As we gaze into the magic mirror, an unspoken wish on our lips, the genii of our shadow selves reviews for us the glories of our past four years. We see the autumn of 1935. Six hundred timid, questing Freshmen pass in review, and we realize that, even as we have grown in stature, we have become more mature in our outlooks, our ambitions, our ideals, until today we feel justly proud of the colorful pictures here reflected.

We hear cheers as Charles Griffin comes into view, the only Freshman to make the Varsity Swimming Team in 1935. We see him adding new laurels as State Champion in the 220 free-style, and swimming on the team with Hinds, Samuels, Beale, and Sullivan. Then with Cecil Hinds as captain, our football team plunges down the field with Tony Peverada, the only Freshman to gain a permanent position on the Varsity; John Griffin, All Conference Guard; and Amato, Crozier, C. Portas, Marston, Wing, Casey, and Hay.

Speeding down the track come Carland, Donahue, Kane, Mrowka, W. Portas, Montgomery, Lamson, and Murphy, co-captains; and we see those weighty men, Shulman, and Weisman. Tony Peverada again centers the scene, this time in basketball — Tony, the only member of the famed "Little Boy Blues" graduating in '39. He is joined by Vanier, Crozier, Amato, Armstrong, and Joe Fisher.

Our girls too, with their intramural sports, hold a feature place, and we recall when the Riding Club was formed, with Carolyn Nalley as its first president, and we see Betty Gribben, Dorothy Cole, Lorraine Spiller, Evelyn Mackay, and Sylvia Astor in the basketball spotlight. The mellow notes of Virginia Hall's cello bring back happy memories of musical moments, as do her clear trumpet notes.

Back Row: Charles E. Griffin, Raymond P. Kane, Joseph F. Crozier, John F. Jaques, Cecil A. Hinds.

We see Frances Reardon winning her citizenship award and with Sydney Shulman, Don Meade, and Madeline Nicholas proving histrionic ability. Ruth Lerman, Charles Griffin, and Hollis Cheney now stand before their easels perpetuating for us memories of outstanding events. We hear again the golden voice of Margaret Crozier, who in her Junior year was awarded the prize for being the all-around girl of her class, winning new laurels.

Red Cross serves, with John Jaques, Margaret Crozier, Dorothy Moran, and Robert Hay as Senior members, and John, Margaret, Dorothy, and Robert also aiding Mabel Jones, Robert Tanner, Virginia Hall, and Robert Weisman on the Hospitality Committee. We recall the organization of the Science Club, and see the Forum or the Cercle Francais being conducted with distinction and honor.

John Jaques again swings into view, Junior Class President, winner of the Harvard Book, debater, Senior Class President, Editor-in-chief of the TOTEM, and we recall Margaret Heaton, who came to us already famous as a championship speller and writer of poems, and who remained to become our Valedictorian.

Four of our former faculty appear in the mirror, and, in loving memory, we greet those who have entered through those "portals everlasting"—Miss Curtis, Miss Potter, Mrs. Briggs, and Miss Corey. But we see Mr. Lowe welcoming those new faculty members, Mr. Sibson, Mr. Means, Miss Bosworth, Mr. Flanagan, Mr. Phair, and Mr. Weber.

So, as we view in retrospection the four years just closing, our hearts are filled with poignant sadness as we realize that we are soon to leave Portland High forever. The responsibility for noble achievement now rests on our shoulders.

"She's A Good Fellow"

Under the direction of Mr. Carl Weber, this year's fast moving Senior Class Play, "She's a Good Fellow," furnished an eager audience with uproarious entertainment. The story takes place at the Tyler's cottage in the White Mountains. Carl Gardner, a cheese manufacturer, his rigid housekeeper, Miss Prudence Pepper, and his three daughters, Ivy, Rose, and Violet, are neighbors of the Tylers.

Leo Lane, engaged to marry Corrine Tyler, is falsely accused of robbery, and is forbidden by Theodore Tyler to see Corrine. However, the Tyler's cook,

Bridget, leaves in a huff, offering Leo a splendid opportunity of impersonating the Irish woman cook, supposedly sent from an agency. Wright Gilmore, a wolf in sheep's clothing, in the good graces of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler, vainly pursues Corrine. In the end it is revealed that Wright Gilmore committed the theft, hoping to incriminate Leo Lane so that he might have a free field. Everything turns out perfectly, with Corrine's family agreeing that "She (Leo Lane) is a good fellow." The attractively gowned ushers, our band which played before each act, and the modern interior stage set, newly decorated, added much to the success of this play.

BEST LOOKING BOY

"Blue Bulldog" Hay led the pack as the answer to a maiden's prayer and now wears with worthy pride the crown which establishes him as the Adonis of P. H. S. This is the second consecutive year that a blond has won, if that means anything to you. Pulses flutter, and eyes follow adoringly as he swings down the corridor followed by his rivals in the contest—Bob Tanner, Kerrigan, Fred Conti, and Robert Weisman. May it be said in justice that Don Meade, Lyman Lamson, Cliff Allen, and George Lee also have their admirers.

MOST POPULAR GIRL

Just six votes separated Frances Reardon and Margaret Crozier, top aspirants for Miss Popularity. This time, however, Frances was "the winnah," in the home stretch. Chosen for the citizenship medal, and active in school, sports, and organization, "Fran" has justly won this real honor. June McGrath and Nancy Randall were separated by just two votes, with Madeline Nicholas next in line. Bernice Staszko and Frances Beaudry were tied, and Patricia Whipple was just one point behind. The choices undoubtedly prove the sagacity of the class.

BIGGEST BLUFFER (Boy)

There was not a shadow of a doubt from the very start. The vote was in the bag from the first count, and the answer was—Joe Tinkham! Of course everyone bluffs occasionally—well—almost everyone—but Joe gets the consistent record medal. Now there were some who thought Fred Conti deserved it! Phil LaRou polled nineteen votes, Joe Crozier, seventeen, Jerry Sheriff, fifteen, and Bob Hay, fourteen. Bud Armstrong and John Carland were tied in the next spot. But you can see for yourselves that those also-rans never really had a chance against "all-time-bluffer Tinkham." Take a bow, Joe!

BIGGEST BLUFFER (Girl)

The girls were pretty well bunched on this particular contest and it looks as if the boys had quite a hand in the outcome. Rose Hayes and Helen Lomac were practically tied; Madeline Nicholas was only two strides behind, and Betty Gribbin has also done some plain and fancy bluffing in her time. Patricia Whipple and Margaret Collins were tied, and the rest of the votes were scattered. It is a matter of record, however, that every girl in the class received at least one vote. (You'd have thought so if you'd been counting 'em!)

MOST CONCEITED BOY

Inferiority and superiority "complexers" step right up and shake hands with the living exponent of both schools of psychology, Philip LaRou, our 101 percent egoist. For that's just the number of votes polled for Phil as most conceited! It seems almost a waste of printer's ink even to mention the runners-up, but it might be a warning and keep some nice little boys from maintaining permanent swelled heads. Who are they? Well, Don Meade, for one, and Eddie Amato, for another. Then Brogan, Hay and Lepoff, Tanner and Kerrigan, Catir and Cliff Allen; all in tie positions in that order.

BIGGEST FLIRT (Girl)

The entire school conceded the prize, but we counted all the votes just the same. And were we right? We were! Of course we don't need to tell you it was Madeline Nicholas. Nor do we need to elaborate on the fact that Helen Lomac was second, or Patricia Whipple, third! And we hate to tell you that Margaret Collins and Mary Kocika have also been classed as heartless coquettes. So, gentlemen of the faculty and of the school, if any of these damsels smile sweetly on you, "Don't you believe it."

MOST POPULAR AND MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED

Just sixty votes ahead of John Craven and Don Meade, who tied for second place as the most popular boy, we find all-star Jaques, who seemed to find favor with both sexes. It was a well-deserved win for John has been serving his school and his class since freshman year. We might mention that Cecil Hinds and Bob Tanner were not far behind the Craven and Meade combine.

But, when it came to the boy most likely to succeed, Jaques polled two hundred and twenty-nine votes with Craven again a second. Personality and brains win!

BEST LOOKING AND MOST RESPECTED

Probably the highest honor that can come to any coed is that of being chosen as the most respected girl in the class for character and high ideals. This honor was given to Margaret Crozier, by a large majority, but Margaret Heaton and Frances Reardon should receive honorable mention. Margaret Crozier also has the distinction of being the class beauty, which, in combination with the first honor, holds a real meaning, for it is beauty with character. Frances Reardon held second place, with Nancy Randall in third position, and Wilhelmina Klauber and Rita Swasey polling enough votes for fourth and fifth positions respectively.

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED

"One-seventy-five, one-seventy-six, and three more make one-seventy-nine, and Sara Margaret Heaton wins as the coed most likely to succeed!" But why shouldn't she succeed? She's had good practice! She came to P. H. S. as the champion speller of Portland and vicinity; she receives medals n'everything for her poems; and she's Valedictorian and on the TOTEM Board. Margaret Crozier was second, and again she was teamed with Frances Reardon. Barbara Greely, Mabel Jones, and Evelyn Mack also seem to possess those qualities which make for success both in school and in life.

MOST CONCEITED GIRL

That smile may disarm you, but eighty-four of her friends (?) think that Helen Lomac really deserves top berth as most conceited girl in the class of 1939. Of course we know she's been maligned, but we can't lie about the votes just to be nice! And then that sweet and ingenuous Madeline Nicholas was next. Imagine anyone thinking Madeline conceited! But what about Rose Hayes? She's gained a reputation for egotism too, and we have it on good authority that Nancy Randall, Pat Whipple, Kay Graff, and Mary Kocicka have slight leanings in that direction! But of course we all know it can't be true! Or can it?

BEST ATHLETE

It was a walkaway for sturdy, versatile Cecil Hinds in the final athletic contest, for our non-corruptible voting machine showed up a total of one hundred and sixty-seven perfectly good votes for our star of the gridiron and of the tank. "Cece" has smiled his way to fame, however, not only as an athlete but also as a class officer, and now holds the position of Senior Class Secretary. His votes as most popular boy were also well to the top. Eddie Amato was second, Griffin third, and Crozier, Peverda, and Clarence Portas the next in line.

BIGGEST FLIRT (Boy)

All those seniors can't be wrong! They must have known what they were doing when they voted for Don Meade as biggest flirt, and if you'd ever seen him in the class play, you'd have known that he was just being "natural" when he let all those women kiss him—or did he kiss them? Well, anyway, "He's a Good Fellow." But so is Fred Conti who came in second, casting languishing glances. Joe Duff casts a wicked eye, and John Carland, Joseph Crozier, and Philip LaRou also have that "come-hither" look! So be warned, coeds!

Juniors Establish Enviably Reputation

At the end of three years, we have established the reputation of being not only the most brilliant class, but also one of the most aggressive.

In retrospect, we see the faces of our classmates who almost immediately became outstanding: Timothy Osborne, who entered at once into debating, and, with Priscilla Higgins, Raymond Barry, and Marie Zukunft was chosen for the Red Cross Committee; Despina Doukas, a debater, and the first girl to be elected president of a Junior Class; Ann Hersey and Cecile Albert, swimmers; Donald Presnell, honor student, who now is our vice-president; Francis Corrigan, secretary, and John Piscopo, treasurer. We are proud of Louis Botto, who made the Varsity football team in his freshman year and has also been an asset in basketball for three years; and of George Panages, present commander of the Queen's Men and an outstanding cadet. Among others of the Queen's Men are Lewis Sawyer, Paul Morong, and John Sapp. Richard Keating was president of the Philatelic Society his sophomore year. In boys' swimming, Harvard Closson, Paul Vinella, Raymond Barry, and Norman Douglas have been mainstays, and Louis Smith and Robert Niles have pounded the boards in track. Lucy Cereste has been outstanding in the Girls' Glee Club, having a leading part in "The Belle of Barcelona"; Gordon Moxcey, Allison Karnes, and Lois Peterson have sung in the special chorus. More names were on the scholastic Honor Roll from our sophomore class than from any other class.

Perhaps, however, the Junior Prom in June was the greatest event of the third year. On the committee were the class officers—already mentioned, and the executive board composed of Edward Pennell, Alice Hinds, Ray Smith, Louis Botto, Betty Ballard, Marie Zukunft, Lois Peterson, and Frederick Dickson.

So truly we too, may be classed with those "Whose yesterdays look backward with a smile."

Underclassmen Vie For Superiority

The Sophomore's Hall of Fame includes Mel Osgood, Ray Moffett, and Frank Tate in basketball; and in football, Steve MacPherson, the only sophomore letterman. In baseball we find Bob Graff, Bill Berryman, Jack Silverman, and Bob Crozier. Track claims Thomas Herbert, Bill Humphreys, Louis Wheatley, and John Rosetti, while our swimming team has a nucleus in Bill Merrigan, Roland Gorman, and Edgar Googins. Merrigan, a hundred yard backstroke stylist, placed second in the State Meet, and Gorman, a record breaker, is unbeatable in the hundred and fifty yard medley swim.

Mortimer Pinansky, Arline Gilpatrick, Shirley Kane, and MacPherson have been members of the Red Cross Council, the latter being sent as County representative to Washington, D. C. Margaret Campbell, for the second year, was a valuable member of the debating team. Certainly we have no cause to feel any inferiority.

Dear Upperclassmen:

You can find us in Freshman Alley braving the terrors of algebra and Latin, or in the quietest study halls, for we still take life seriously. You can recognize us by the huge armload of books, and by the worshipping look we bestow upon you. But, you can also recognize us by the way we go out for sports and other activities.

Two of the nicest recollections we have are of the Freshman Assembly and of the Reception, where Miriam Komar and Joe Rando performed.

And we're so proud of "Nundi" Romano's work at the Stadium; of Beverly Townsend, who won the Health Contest; and of Raymond Thompson, winner of the Alumni prize speaking contest. We like to mention Mildred Doukas and Robert Donovan, star debaters, and Laura Pinansky and Coolidge Wadleigh's parts in the Riding Club play, and our musicians, Catir, Urban, Zegouras, McLellan, Hall, and King.

We've had a good time this year, even if Latin rules and math problems have tried to "down" us.

TOTEM BUSINESS BOARD

Sitting: Alice P. Knight, Virginia Rae Hall.

Standing: Fred B. Ryder, Jack L. Silver, Joseph Crozier, Frances V. Nelson, Ruth R. Lerman, D. Faye Kimball, Jane B. Walker.

Success Reflects Ability Of Business Board

Another TOTEM Business Board takes its place with the hallowed shades of former years, those past business boards who are now simply specters viewing with approval the upholding of inspiring traditions. Since industry, ability, and loyalty to the TOTEM have ever been the factors that result in the production of an outstanding year book, the success of our 1939 TOTEM reflects clearly the ability of its efficient Business Board. Joseph Crozier guided the board to another TOTEM victory in the responsible position of Business Manager. Selected for Advertising Manager, Fred B. Ryder undertook the task of securing advertisements to help finance the publication. Assisting the Advertising Manager were Jack L. Silver, one of the Board's most capable members, and Frances V. Nelson. Ruth L. Lerman was appointed Circulation Manager.

Ryder, aided by his ad gatherers, secured the cooperation of enough advertisers in the city to insure financial backing in the face of a dwindling subscription list, for the securing of sufficient subscriptions was particularly arduous this year. Urgent requests were posted on the bulletins; speeches were made in session rooms, and unusually attractive and colorful posters, produced by the art department, were displayed in the corridors. A daily account of subscription increases was given to the student body by means of a novel race-track chart.

To four efficient typists, Faye Kimball, Jane Walker, Alice Knight, and Virginia Rae Hall, whose duty it was to prepare copy for the printer, the TOTEM wishes to express appreciation. Credit must also be given to Mr. William E. Chapin of the faculty, without whose direction this, our 1939 TOTEM, would not have followed in the honorable footsteps of its eighteen esteemed predecessors.

TOTEM Vividly Portrays School Life

The TOTEM Editorial Board, made up of students outstanding in both scholastic and extra-curricular activities, held its first meeting on December 12 to decide on the theme for the 1939 TOTEM. The meeting was presided over by John F. Jaques, Editor-in-chief. As Portland High is this year celebrating her seventy-fifth anniversary, "Reflections" was decided upon as a fitting theme, and the work began.

Aided by faculty advisers, Miss Ruth L. Sturgis and Miss Grace L. Dolley, the Board undertook two new projects, first, that of giving illuminating thumbnail descriptions of faculty members, and second, that of having the seniors write a highlight or darkest moment of their High School careers, this idea taking the place of the well-worn and often misfitting quotations.

This ambitious group, who worked well as a unit in writing and editing the records of the several activities of the school, included Robert Tanner, Assistant editor, who is an outstanding pitcher on the Blue Nine; John Craven, Senior Classical Forum president and Hospitality Committee member; Richard Graffam, Latin Club secretary, and a member of Le Cercle Francais; and Robert Hay, Bulldog halfback and graduation essayist.

The girls were well represented by Margaret Heaton, valedictorian; Barbara Greeley, Senior class officer; Mabel Jones, Hospitality Committee member; Frances Nelson, Editorial Board secretary and Riding Club member; June McGrath, our popular class secretary; Frances Reardon, swimmer and a three-year room chairman; and Adele Rosen, active member of Le Cercle Francais.

Many thanks are due to Miss Sturgis, Miss Dolley, and Mr. Farrar who gave much of their time in constructive criticism of the 1939 edition of the TOTEM.

OFFICERS OF LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Sitting: Barbara Whitlock, Harriette Taylor, Dorothy E. Quinn, Despina Doukas.

Standing: Stanley T. Mayhew, Peter Giftos, Glenys L. Venner, Joyce M. Cook, Robert A. Weisman.

Le Cercle Francais Maintains Its High Standard

Le Cercle Francais, the only honor society in our school, is one of the most progressive and enthusiastic organizations we have. Students must have an average of 85% to secure membership. The chief purpose of the Cercle is to enable the students to understand the French language and speak it fluently, and to afford students the opportunity of using every-day French conversation.

There are four groups. The Senior group, under the supervision of Miss Welch, chose as its officers Harriette Taylor, president, and Robert A. Weisman, secretary; a Junior group with Mrs. Damren, adviser, has Stanley J. Mayhew as president, Dorothy E. Quinn, secretary, and Peter Giftos, Vice-president; another Junior group under the direction of Miss Weeks, elected Barbara Whitlock, president, and Glenys L. Venner as secretary; and Sophomore group with Miss Broe, adviser, has Despina Doukas, president and Joyce M. Cook, secretary. During the monthly meetings, the members, speaking French throughout, played popular games and enacted short French skits, all of which were enjoyed by the student audience. The highlight of all these meetings was a kind of Punch and Judy performance entitled, "Le Guignol," arranged by Richard Graffam and John Craven.

Another feature which has proved very enjoyable has been the French recordings. These have become a valuable aid to the French student as they enable him to study the authoritative French dialect. The last meeting of the year was a gala occasion, being followed by a dance in the boys' gymnasium, where specialty numbers and dancing were enjoyed by all French students. One officer from each group arranged this affair which took place on April 20. Praise is due the advisers of this Club who have made considerable effort in bringing about its success.

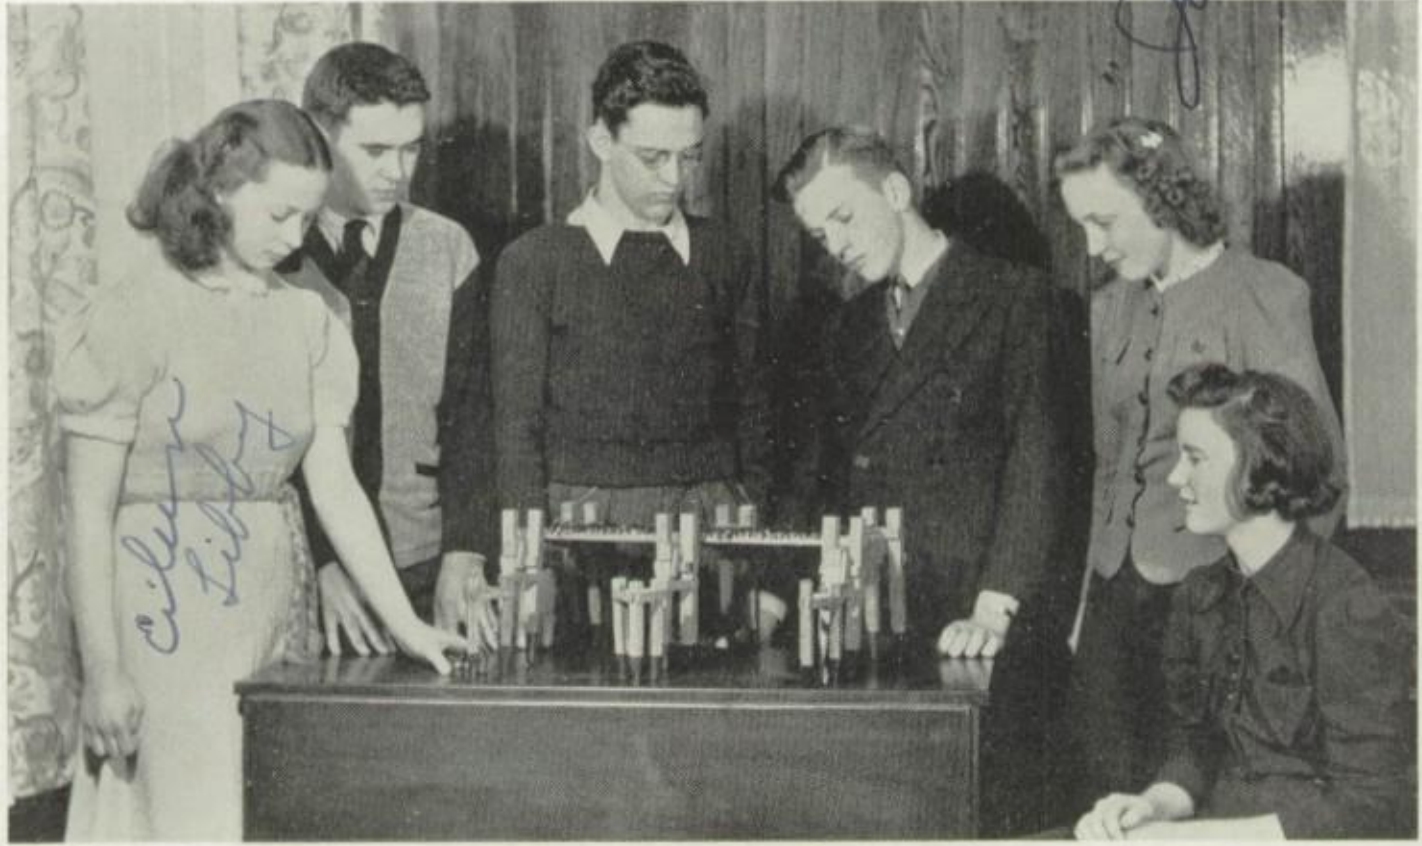

HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE

Hospitality Committee Proves Invaluable To Newcomers

The Freshmen were again greeted at the portals of Portland High School by the Hospitality Committee, as, under the supervision of Miss Lilla A. Stetson, they warmly welcomed the new classmen. Following the usual custom, members of the committee had been selected from the Senior Class for their ability and resourcefulness, and at the first meeting John Jaques was elected chairman. Mabel Jones was unanimously appointed secretary by her fellow members who consisted of Dorothy Moran, Virginia Hall, Margaret Crozier, John Craven, Robert Weisman, and Robert Tanner. In trying to befriend the Freshmen, an assembly was planned in which all participants were taken from the Freshman class and the Hospitality Committee. Under the guise of a radio program advertising school activities, the assembly was a success. Margaret Crozier as chairman and John Craven as radio announcer presented the program in which much talent was uncovered. Miriam Komar, pianist, and Winifred Beale, reader, were greeted with great applause at the end of their performances. The program was interrupted by news flashes given by Robert Weisman and Robert Tanner, and Virginia Rae Hall and Dorothy Moran had charge of the advertisements. Mabel Jones gave an illuminating talk about the school "handbooks" which are issued by the Hospitality Committee for the benefit of the Freshman, or of newcomers. These books have a great store of knowledge about the school, and those unfamiliar with the building found them invaluable.

During the past year the Committee took advantage of every event which enabled them to help some student in need of friendly guidance. Always on the lookout, the group have started many bewildered strangers on the friendly road.

CLASSICAL FORUM OFFICERS

Eileen F. Libby, John V. Craven, Richard C. Graffam, James Cooney, Josephine A. Flaherty, Barbara Whitlock.

The Classical Forum Turns Back History's Pages

Among the imaginary shadows of the Seven Hills of Rome with all their temples and legendary gods and goddesses, the Classical Forum has successfully completed another year under the system which was begun last year when the club was divided into Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshmen classes. The officers elected for this year's Forum were, in the Senior class, John Craven, president; Richard Graffam, secretary; in the Junior class, Josephine Flaherty, president; Barbara Whitlock, secretary; in the Sophomore class, James Cooney, president; Eileen Libby, secretary.

The Senior club stressed buildings and statues in their meetings this year. The Parthenon was thoroughly explored, and various pictures of gods and goddesses were identified. Motion pictures concerning Virgil were also shown.

The government and laws in the time of Caesar were studied in the Junior club, and short scenes from Caesar's life were enacted, with members of the club portraying Marcus Antonius, Portia, Brutus, and Cassius. The Sophomore club also went back to Caesar's time and put on motion pictures of this leader.

The Freshman club conducted a program in which they learned the value of the study of Latin. Roman history and the public and private life of the Romans were also studied, and stories portraying Roman characteristics, mythology, and religion were given, all of which correlated their work in English. Mrs. Paine, Miss Mann, and Mrs. Burnham were faculty leaders.

In accordance with the regular custom, the clubs held their last meeting together and left the classical side of the Forum to enjoy dancing, entertainment, and refreshments in the boys' gym, thus making a joyful ending of their Forum year.

OFFICERS OF THE PHILATELIC SOCIETY

Philatelic Society Combines Recreation and Profit

This year the Portland High Philatelic Society is making a record for itself with twenty-five paid members, largely underclassmen, many visiting members, and a very enthusiastic group of officers which includes as President, Richard D. Keating; Vice-president, Louise Shur; Secretary, Evelyn B. Micohen; Treasurer, Maurice A. Storck. Under the capable supervision of Miss Ella Pennell of the faculty who is herself an enthusiast, having an enviable collection of stamps of historic interest, the members themselves conduct two meetings monthly, one formal and one informal. The speakers at the formal meetings have included local men prominently connected with stamp-collecting: Raymond Henley, former president of the Portland City Stamp Club; Richard Spaulding and Sterling Dow, two of the foremost private collectors; George Hodgkins and Charles Frost, prominent dealers, and Assistant Postmaster, Leon Cummings.

Several of the informal meetings have taken the form of excursions to various local institutions connected with this instructive hobby. The members visited the Stamp Attic, conducted for and by stamp-collectors, and were guests of the Portland Post Office, getting first-hand information about the functions of the Postal Service and the life of a stamp before it reaches the collector's album.

In May, the members display their best collections. Prizes are awarded for various groups and classifications. The exhibit this year was outstanding, the attractive and unusual groupings eliciting deserved praise from both collectors and visitors. The members exchange duplicates and learn very helpful facts about history and geography. The year's activity closed with a picnic in June, after a year in which students had found recreation and a most profitable exchange of ideas.

DEBATERS AND CUPS

Front Row: Margaret I. Campbell, Janet Redmond, Priscilla Higgins, Florice E. Whitney, Sylvia Turesky, Despina Doukas, Mildred Doukas.

Debaters Successfully Emulate Past Glories

After a busy year of tournaments and public debates, our histrionic hurricanes have many pleasant reflections and equally numerous hopeful expectations for another year. The first of these pleasing recollections takes us to Bowdoin for the Interscholastic Discussion League where John Jaques, Senior, and Mildred Doukas, Freshman, competed in a field of twenty speakers. Our trail of memories leads us next to Augusta, where our teams attended an invitation tournament at Cony High, February 5. Here our delegation placed second among the schools represented. Speaking on this year's subject of an Anglo-American alliance, the negative teams were Despina Doukas and Florice Whitney, Coolidge Wadleigh and Robert Donovan. The affirmative case was argued by Margaret Campbell and Janet Redmond, John Jaques and Timothy Osborne. The following week, February 12, found Portland High School the host of the South-western Maine Tournament in which our stalwart students topped the contestants to win first place. At Bangor, February 19, Osborne and Jaques, affirmative, and Doukas and Donovan, negative, brought home the cup.

This year saw Portland eliminated from the Bates League for the first time in many years. This resulted from a tie with South Portland in the first round. In the play-off at Bates College, April 10, South Portland finally won.

The palavering Portlanders went to Durham, New Hampshire, to attend the New England Forensic League Tournament on May 20 with a squad of public speakers, as well as debaters. The former included Margaret Crozier, Evelyn Mack, Raymond Thompson, Francis Donahue, Sylvia Turesky, Blanche Perry, Timothy Osborne, and Edwin Davis. This tournament closed a most profitable season.

Standing: Stephen R. MacPherson, Timothy O. Osborne, John F. Jaques, Robert B. Hay, Edwin Davis, Raymond W. Barry, Raymond Thompson, Mortimer M. Pinansky.

Red Cross Continues To Serve

After many years of faithful service, our Red Cross Council may well reflect with pleasure on its achievements. This year was outstanding, as the group, headed by President, John F. Jaques; Vice-president, Margaret Crozier; and Secretary, Timothy Osborne, has been highly successful in all its endeavors. The roll call showed fifty-two out of sixty-four rooms in the school supporting the organization one hundred per cent. During the November drive for canned foods, over six hundred pieces were collected, and these were used to aid needy families.

As in the past, candy and timely presents were sent at Easter, Christmas, and Valentine's Day, to our adopted institution, Opportunity Farm in New Gloucester, Maine. During the annual spring visit to that school, entertainment was presented by talented students. Money was also donated to the Children's Service and the Hurricane Relief Fund.

Pictures and drawings of the life in Portland High School, the State of Maine, the City of Portland, and the average American home were collected and placed between portfolio covers designed by the Art Department. This attractive book was sent to Denmark through the International Correspondence Service. Early in the year a similar portfolio was sent to Haybes, France, and a book containing students' drawings was received in answer. A book of stamps was exchanged with Anykscai, Lithuania.

At the County Junior Red Cross Council meeting John Jaques was elected president, and Edwin Davis, Freshman, was chosen to act as program manager. Monthly meetings included interesting trips through the new radio station, WGAN, the Maine General Hospital, and Headquarters of the Police Department.

ART CLUB OFFICERS

John W. Libby, Treasurer; Dorothy H. Dore, Secretary; Ruth R. Lerman, President.

Art Students Unite To Help School Activities

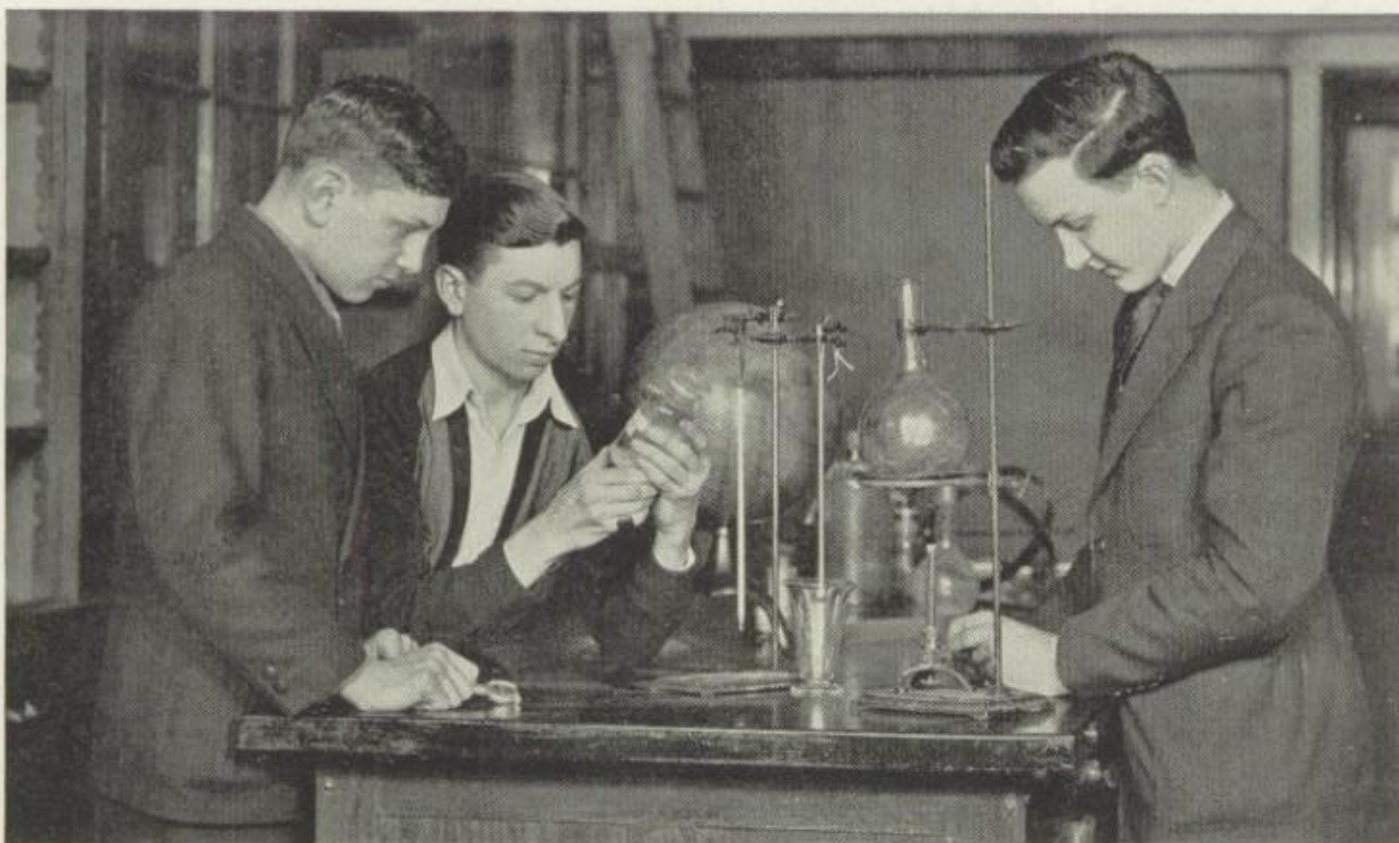

For the benefit of those new students who have spent only one year in our school and to refresh the memory of those who have spent more than one year under the "Northern Light," we introduce again the Portland High School Art Club, which was organized in 1919 through the interest and efforts of Miss Harriet E. Thompson, and is still flourishing under the very capable guidance of Mr. William W. Thompson, our art instructor.

The interests of the Art Club and the Art Department are inseparable. During the year the department, under the leadership of Mr. Thompson, has made posters for Fire Prevention Week, the Community Chest, the TOTEM, the Senior Class Play, and all dances.

The variety of art work done by the Portland High Art Department, which consists of cast, scrapbooks, masques, and many other practical branches of art work, furnishes training for advanced study and helps the student decide upon one particular line of specialization.

In February, the Art Club sponsored a Balloon Dance for the joint purpose of raising funds for supplies and having a general good time. This was under the able direction of the officers for this year: Ruth R. Lerman, president; Dorothy H. Dore, secretary; and John W. Libby, treasurer. Among many enterprises sponsored by the Art Club members during the year was the making of marionettes for an entertainment given for the Teachers' Convention in April.

Credit should also be given to those art students who have helped in making the TOTEM an artistic success through their cleverly created insert pages. In short, the school could not spare the Art Department or its handmaiden, the Art Club.

SCIENCE CLUB OFFICERS

Louis Oddi, Amedio Di Biase, Richard Holmes.

The Science Club Celebrates First Anniversary

The Science Club celebrates its first anniversary this year, having been established in 1937 for the purpose of broadening the students' knowledge of the scientific world of today. Several tours were conducted throughout the city where the curious student witnessed many interesting and educational sights. Open forums were held in the school under the supervision of Carl T. Stevens, adviser.

The program of the Club has had two general phases: one of inviting speakers to come to the School to give lectures on some practical application of science, and the other of visiting various industrial and scientific establishments which apply the findings of science to everyday life. Outstanding among the former was the lecture on earthquakes and the Seismograph machine by the local representative of the Harvard Observatory, and the moving picture lecture on the U. S. Coast Guard and its work as given by a representative from the Coast Guard School at New London, Connecticut.

Interesting visits included an afternoon spent in the control laboratory of the Portland Water District where the sanitation of our water supply was discussed and demonstrated by Mr. Scales, the chemist in charge. The science involved in radio broadcasting consumed an interesting afternoon spent at Station WGAN. Other visits included the baking plant of the National Biscuit Company, and a trip through the cotton mill in Westbrook.

Among the supporters of the Science Club are the club officers. They have done their part to make this newly organized club a real success. The officers are Margaret Kimball, president; Richard Holmes, vice-president; and Amedio Di Biase, secretary. Margaret Campbell and Louis Oddi make up the executive board.

Christmas Pageant

Two outstanding musical productions have been given this year under the direction of Miss Emily Chase. The Christmas Pageant was presented to the school on the morning of December 22, and to the public on the afternoon of the same day. The leading parts were taken by Jean Percey as Mary; Alexander McMinn as Joseph; and Lucy Cereste as Gabriel. The part of the Archangel was portrayed by Virginia Pinkham; that of two Bible Women by Anna and Philomena Amabile, and the shepherd lad by Gerald Dwight. Robert Tanner, Edward Cushing, Robert Callahan enacted the parts of the three kings, and the shepherds were James Foley, Robert Jordan, and Francis Griffen. Frank Catir was one of the wise men. The two children were little Miss Adelaide Kiley and Master Guy Hadlock, Jr.

Principals: Frank Catir, Alexander McMinn, Robert Tanner, Edward Cushing, Robert Callahan, James Foley, Robert Jordan, Francis Griffen, Gerald Dwight, Jean Percey, Adelaide Kiley, Lucy Cereste, Virginia Pinkham, Anna Amabile, Philomena Amabile, Guy Hadlock, Jr., Joan Kennedy.

Delights Audience

The cherub was played by Joan Kennedy.

Chorus work was ably handled by the members of the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs and by special choruses from the combined clubs with Virginia Rae Hall as accompanist. The soloists were Robert Cooke, Philip Peterson, as a choir boy, Shirley Di Pietro, Shirley Spector who sang feelingly, "Ave Maria" by Gounod, and Gordon Moxcey and Herbert Carnes who did a duet. A trio, composed of Faye Kimball, Rowena Hallett, and Lois Peterson sang special Christmas numbers.

Miss Janet Redmond gave the Prologue, and the Scriptures were read by Timothy Osborne. Excellent lighting effects and costumes made the scenes both artistic and pleasingly realistic.

Band, Orchestra, And Glee Club Unite In Close Harmony

As we glance back over the present year, we find that the musical organizations of Portland High have held an all important place in our school activities, for it is hard to think of an assembly or a football game without the stirring marches of our thirty-five piece band, under the capable leadership of Mr. Joseph L. Gaudreau. But it is not only for students that our band has functioned. The members performed on March 9, which was Parents' Night, and on April 21, at the Cadet Ball. They also played between the acts of the Senior Class Play.

With a membership of forty-five, our orchestra also rose to fame this year with Mr. Gaudreau as conductor. Making its first appearance on January 6, they played a concert for the Cumberland County Teachers' Convention.

The most important event of the year for the members of the orchestra was the school broadcast in January when a half-hour program was given consisting of selections by the orchestra and soloists.

Again on May 20, the musicians of the school delighted a large audience when "The Belle of Barcelona" was presented. It was a great success, and much credit is due Miss Chase, the soloists, and the chorus for their excellent work. Leading roles were taken by Lucy Cereste, Sidney Shulman, Robert Cooke, Gordon Moxcey, Francis Donahue, Fred Conti, and Donna Davidson.

One of our number, Virginia Rae Hall, brought honor to the school, city, and state when she was chosen to represent Maine at the National Biennial Convention of Music Clubs in Baltimore in May. Miss Hall played in the cello section and later played in the student Symphony Orchestra at the N. Y. World's Fair.

BANK AND TOTEM BANK OFFICIALS

School Bank Serves Two Purposes

In future years the thrift of Portland High School graduates will reflect favorably on our school savings bank. Under the faculty supervision of Miss Hilda Ek, the bank accommodates depositors, many of whom are saving for their TOTEMS, the Washington trip, graduation, or educational advancement. After the student has deposited one dollar or more, the account is transferred to the Maine Savings Bank and draws interest. Depositors are privileged to withdraw their accounts at any time. Monday and Tuesday of each week serve as regular banking days, while Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday are reserved as TOTEM banking days.

Serving as tellers in the TOTEM bank for this year were Rita B. Belfontaine, Marjorie Brewer, Norma Cope, Donna E. Davidson, V. Grace Der Arsenian, Eleanor Serota, Dorothy M. Thomas, Jane B. Walker, and Agnes Ward, all of whom are efficient members of the senior class and take the commercial course. Supervisor of the regular school bank was Muriel Johnson, assisted by Evelyn Mack as cashier, Frances Strout as ledger clerk, and Philip La Rou, teller, the only boy to gain a position on the bank staff. Besides aiding the school to inspire student thrift, these bank tellers gained practical experience.

In the near future many Portland High School graduates may look back on their banking days and reflect, "It was there that I acquired a knowledge of the value of money; there that I formed the habit of saving my pennies; and it is to that institution I owe any success I have attained." Then their reflections may cease, but the benefits they have received from the bank will continue to serve.

Cadets And Queen's Men

Our Cadet Corps, under the expert supervision of Lieutenant - Colonel Karl Palmer, is composed of students who desire to learn military tactics. Each year as the season opens, the gymnasium, on Mondays and Wednesdays, is in constant confusion, as the Freshmen are broken in, but, as the Cadet Ball approaches, the three companies drill with uniform precision.

The forty-seventh Annual Cadet Ball, held on April 21, was preceded by a band concert given by the combined Deering and Portland High School Bands. Captain Alfred McCluskey of Company C received the Ralph D. Caldwell Post cup for the best company and was also presented with a medal as the outstanding officer. Stephen Morse was presented the medal as the outstanding cadet of 1939.

Football

Coach Flanagan had no intention of resting on previous laurels, but Lady Luck frowned upon his efforts in spite of his hard work. The first encounter was with Deering. The Rams won by one touchdown, with the Bulldogs on their seven-yard line as the final whistle blew. Next came Biddeford who held the Blue to a scoreless tie. Portland dropped the next two to Edward Little and to Thornton, but won from Westbrook by two touchdowns. Bangor then handed the Blue and White a one-touchdown setback, but a highly confident Cheverus team lost when George Wing made the only touchdown. In the last two battles, South Portland and Deering High both added another win to their credit, closing the season.

A tribute, however, should be paid to the spirit of the coaches and players who tried only the harder in the face of defeat!

Basketball

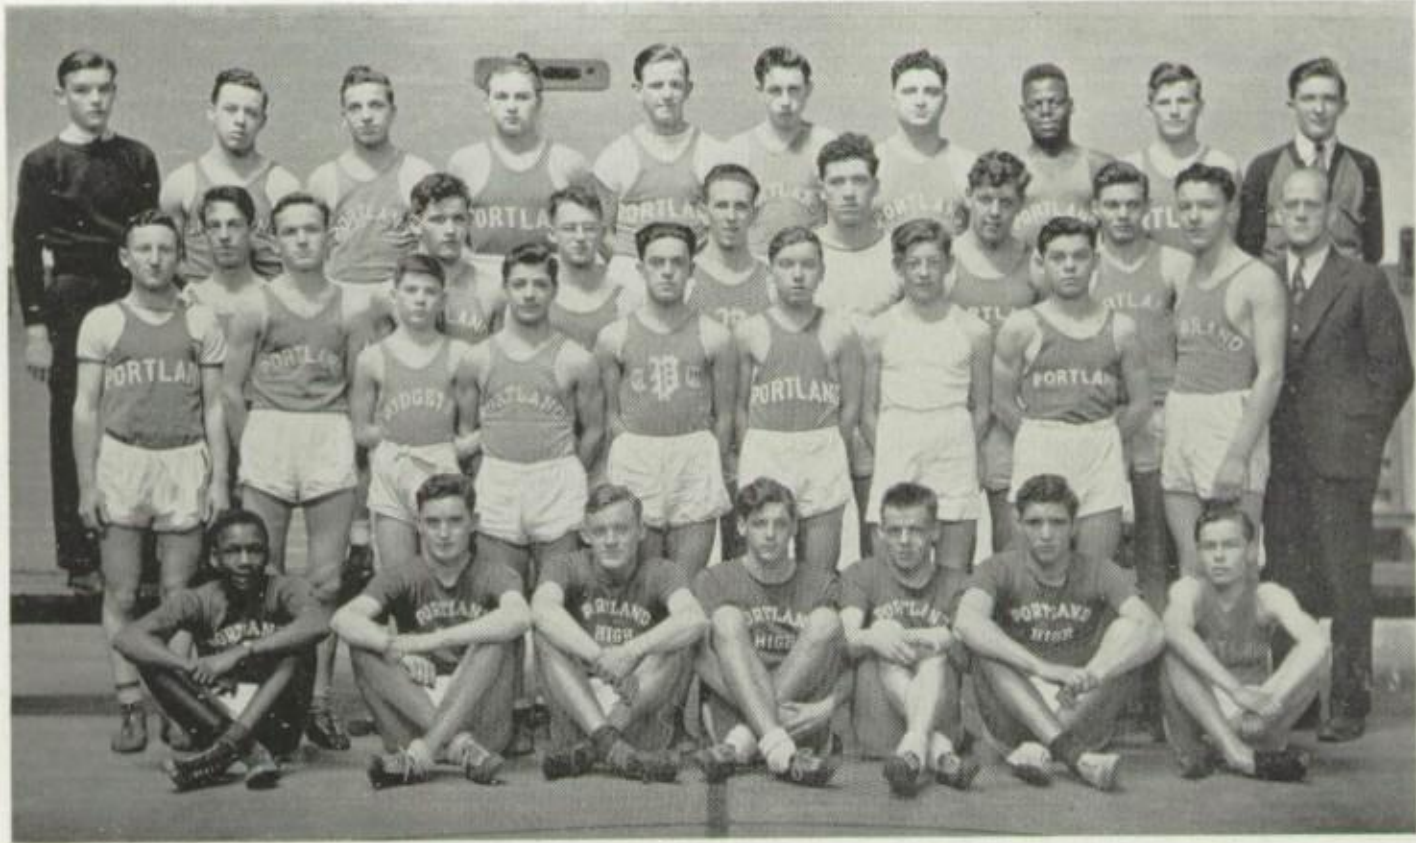

The "Little Boy Blues" finished the season in a blaze of glory in the Southwestern Maine Conference, but lost a hard fought contest in their finest game at the Bates Tournament. This year's team may have been overshadowed by the records of former championship aggregations, but it will go down in the books for its aggressiveness.

The Boys in Blue dropped the first two games to Deering and South Portland by close scores, but took the game from Edward Little. Thornton and Edward Little proved too much for the Blue in the next two games, but the team won the remaining games. Westbrook fell first. Next the Blue avenged their previous defeat by a win over South Portland. Thornton was beaten next, as was Deering. Coach Fitzpatrick should be congratulated for the results he accomplished, and the team, for their splendid cooperation during the past season.

BASKETBALL TEAM

TRACK SQUAD

Second Row: Charles Glazier, Co-Captain Francis Murphy, Charles Shannon, Philip Nappi, Leon Woods, Bernard Olsen, Harry Miller, John Rosetti, Joseph Mayhew, Coach Corey.
Third Row: Robert Niles, Arthur Jones, John Thompson, Edward Montgomery, Robert Weisman, Carl Neilson, Thomas Herbert.

Track Brings Out Promising Candidates

In spite of hard work by both Coaches, Corey and Means, Portland's track aspirants were unable to click. The real cause of Portland's luckless track year was the limited number of candidates, especially veterans. Graduation took many of our promising speedsters, and basketball also robbed our track team of many capable athletes. The greater lack of suitable material was felt in the junior and intermediate divisions. Francis Murphy, a stellar dashman, was the most valuable board pounder in the junior division, while Bob Niles and Tom Herbert gave their all for the intermediate group. In the senior division, Bob Weisman and Sidney Shulman did good work with the weights. John Carland and Francis Donahue displayed impressive prowess in the mile. Lou Smith, one of the Blue's best bets, always gave a good account of himself, and Ray Kane and Weston Portas are rated among the best schoolboy 1,000 yard men. Lyman Lamson earned a prominent place among local championship speedsters for his work in the 600 and the relay, while Eddie Montgomery was a whole track team in himself.

The season opened with a meet with Bowdoin Frosh. Bowdoin won, but Eddie Montgomery was the star of the day, collecting sixteen of Portland's twenty-four points. The next meet was with South Portland where the Red Riots' superior numbers pinned a loss on the Blue. Deering and Thornton encountered a stubborn Portland team, but they were able to turn back the Blue and White. In the Four-Cornered Meet, our boys had to take fourth place. Finally the track team showed their true colors by tying South Portland, thus sharing the honors.

CROSS COUNTRY

John J. Carland, Captain; Harvard Y. Brown, Francis P. Donahue, Raymond P. Kane, Lyman E. Lamson, Weston Portas, Weston R. Roberts, Louis T. Wheatley, Coach Ralph Corey.

Cross Country Team Enjoys Successful Season

With graduation hardly touching last year's cross country team, Portland had expectations of a strong, veteran aggregation. Returning were Captain "Jocko" Carland, Weston Portas, Francis Donahue, Ray Kane, and Merton Roberts, all of whom had seen plenty of service. Lyman Lamson, reporting for the first time, soon developed into a smooth-working varsity man. Practising at Deering's Oaks every day under Coach Corey's critical eye, the team strove to work itself into shape. Profiting from their daily practice, the Blue harriers, on October 1, defeated Deering in the first meet of the fall season, winning by a score of 18-42. Carland covered the $2\frac{3}{4}$ miles in the fast time of 13 minutes flat. October 12 found the plodders at their best, unexpectedly whitewashing the Gorham Normal Jayvees to the tune of 15-50 (a perfect score for the Bulldogs), with Captain Carland breaking the tape first, and Lamson, Portas, Roberts, Donahue, and Kane close behind. After trimming the Bowdoin Frosh 42-30 on October 18, the hill-and-dalers competed in the State meet at the University of Maine in Orono. Although weakened considerably by illness, Portland tied Wilton for second place. A tie in a cross country is an unusual occurrence, and, for tying, the first five Portland men received medals of half gold and half silver. Again an outstanding performer was "Jocko" Carland, who finished fourth behind the famous Toothaker twins, and Plourde. The Blue came back to win a triangle meet with the Bates Frosh and Monmouth Academy. November 11, the boys came in third at Lewiston after running from their bus which was stopped by the Armistice Day Parade.

BOYS' SWIMMING TEAM

Boys' Swimming Team Is Of Championship Caliber

Coach Harold Paulson's Blue Mermen once again have completed a brilliant season coming through with eight wins, one tie, and one very close second. Starting with an excellent group of outstanding swimmers from last year's team, and supplemented by some splendid new material, Coach Paulson has been able to organize one of the strongest swimming teams in the state. Although they did not win the Maine Interscholastic Championship, missing it by the very close margin of 46-47, nevertheless they did win the League Championship Cup for the second consecutive year. This is a three-year award, and if the swimmers of Portland High School retain it for one more year, it will find a permanent place in our trophy-room. In the individual medley swim, Roland Gorman, an outstanding back-stroker, made the only individual record-breaking performance of the year. The powerful relay team composed of Captain Bernard Samuels, Cecil Hinds, William Merrigan, and George Sullivan also set a league record. The Blues suffered a great loss when Nunzio Giampetruzzi, a strong breast-stroker who had been elected co-captain for this year, transferred to another school. John Piscopo, Norman Douglas, and Harvard Closson have done outstanding work in diving. One of the most prominent free-stylers in the state of Maine was Charles Griffin, who did much to make our team of championship caliber. Cecil Hinds, an outstanding swimmer during his four years in high school, has helped the team to victory many times. Although the Blue will lose Captain Bernard Samuels, Charles Griffin, Cecil Hinds, Harvard Closson, George Sullivan, and Chester Beale, six of its outstanding swimmers, by graduation, we are still holding to our conviction that Coach Paulson's 1939-1940 team will be of championship caliber as in former years.

BASEBALL SQUAD

First Row: Robert Graff, Alphonso Depaolo, Henry Stillman, William Berryman, Antonio Cavallaro, Edward Farrell, Donald Morrill.
Second Row: Eugene Miller, Everett Massey, Clarence Reed, Arthur Driscoll, George Burke, Fred Branscombe, Robert Tanner, Raymond Moffett, William Piacintini.

Baseball Team In Third Place At Halfway Mark

At the halfway mark the Blue, coached by the able Jimmy Sibson, stand firmly in third place with four wins and four losses. Three very close games which were lost by a one run margin proved to be the deciding factor between third and first place. The team, led by Captain Bob Tanner, star pitcher and outfielder, consists of such brilliant players as Bob Graff, peppery backstop who has caught for two years; Bill Piacentini, third baseman and heavy sticker; Jack Silverman and Hank Stillman, the outstanding second base combination who recently made the unusual feat of completing a triple play, and Joe Crozier, first baseman who to date is leading the team in both fielding and hitting. This formidable infield lineup has been ably supported by Sam Read, Eddie Farrell, and Fred Branscombe. The outfield, one of the best in the league, has Artie Driscoll, Ray Moffett, Bob Tanner, and Di Paole, all hitting and fielding gems. The pitching staff has a fine set of twirlers including Bob Crozier, Bob Tanner, Mel Osgood, who has been lost because of injuries, George Burke, and Harry Martin. Westbrook, undefeated league leaders for the first half year, were recently defeated for the first time by the Blue nine. Among the wins and defeats are listed thrilling wins over Biddeford 9-2; Deering 9-8; and Westbrook 10-6, and tight losses to South Portland, 6-1; Sanford 4-3; Thornton 5-4, and Cheverus 16-15. An interesting fact is that the three games which were lost by one run were all lost in the ninth and final inning. The rest of the season will follow with games with Deering, Westbrook, South Portland, Thornton, Biddeford, Cheverus, and Sanford. With the team losing only four seniors, Tanner, Read, Branscombe, and Crozier, by graduation, a promising season is expected for next year by Coach Sibson and his cluster of able assistants.

Intramural Sports Interest Increasing

The Intramural system began with girls' Basketball in 1936 and now includes all sports: riding, which may be enjoyed both fall and spring; tennis and field hockey in the autumn; basketball and swimming in the winter; and softball and tennis again in the spring. Badminton was organized during the winter months and next year will be included in our award system.

About seventy tennis enthusiasts reported for spring practice and were divided into class groups of eight, each chosen by the instructor, Miss Bosworth. Many of the girls derive a great deal of pleasure and healthful benefit from instruction in these sports.

Senior girls who have been outstanding in intramural sports during their four years are eligible for the highest award—Royal Blue flannel blazer. The school letter "P" and the class numerals are also coveted awards.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Bakiewicz, Levee, Caizzo, Fornier, Keough, Littlefield, Heaton, Cayting*, Shatz, Ward, Degifico, Macarro, Manoogian, Townsend, Maguire, Homan*, Blaisdell, Libby, Read, Giftos, Russell, Doukas, Doukas, Ward, Putney, Turesky, Silverman, Simansky* Green, Sanford, Saunders, Connolly.

Blue Mounties Complete Third Year

The clattering of hoofs upon the open road brings to our minds the Blue Mounties, just completing their third successful year under the leadership of Margaret Alexander, with twenty-eight members. The club opened their spring term at the Plantation Stables in March with a business-social. A semi-formal dance, arranged by the Senior members, was held at the Hotel Eastland on May 19. Two food sales and several afternoon vic dances were held under the supervision of the underclass members, the proceeds being kept for the week-end trip. With the Gymkhana, the clattering hoofs fade away until another year.

This club was formed in October, 1936, with Carolyn Nally as president and Miss Mary A. Bosworth as faculty adviser. At first the club rode at the Walnut Crest Stables in Gorham.

BLUE MOUNTIES

Swimming Now Intramural Sport

The past year it was decided to have girls' swimming also an intramural sport. The forty girls who reported were divided into Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior groups, respectively. The different groups had score cards to determine the progress which they were making, the tests passed, and the points gained. This afforded keen competition in all groups.

The freshman group, in order to pass their test, had to swim first of all, in good form. And then 50 yards side stroke, 25 yards crawl, back stroke and dive from the edge of the pool. For diversion they were obliged to do different stunts as many times as were called for on their score sheets. The sophomore group had to swim in good form 100 yards side stroke, back stroke, and crawl, and do various stunts and dives. Juniors had to do 200 yards of side stroke, back stroke, crawl, and more difficult dives and stunts. The seniors were required to swim one quarter mile crawl stroke in good form, also, the different strokes, in a certain amount of time. It was also necessary to pass Junior and Senior Life Saving Tests required by the Junior Red Cross.

The girls could win a letter or a jacket, but in order to compete at all, an aspiring candidate must have passing marks in all studies. The Freshmen girls on the team were Betty Curran, Betty Kirvan, Shirley Petty, Laura Pinansky, Hilda Witherly, and Iphigenia Zaimes. Four Sophomores, Georgia Bogan, Betty Cushman, Eleanor Small, and Betty Witherly were among the swimmers, while the representatives from the Junior class numbered only two, Cecile Albert and Ann Hersey. Seniors on the team included Rowena Hallett, Barbara Quinn, Ruth Russell, and Marjorie Brewer. On May 23, the awards were made to the winners.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Basketball And Intramural Awards

A girl who has been out for basketball and other sports her first three years has an opportunity to become a leader and coach of the different girls' basketball teams in the elementary schools, thus developing responsibility, good sportsmanship, and valuable experiences.

Senior girls who were chosen because of their basketball ability and experiences to coach grammar schools are: Dorothy Cole, Ruth R. Russell, Betty Gribben, Lorraine Spiller, Elsie Austin, Jeanette Woods, Marjorie Jenkins, Frances Beaudry, Evelyn McKay, and Louise Richio.

Junior girls who received credit for basketball were Mary Tevanian, Mary Bennett, Evangeline Libby, and Catherine Donahue.

This year twelve girls, all seniors, are to receive the highest awards, blue blazers. They are Elsie Austin, Frances Beaudry, Dorothy Ann Cole, Betty Gribbin, Marjorie Jenkins, Evelyn McKay, Carolyn Nally, Barbara Quinn, Ruth R. Russell, Ruth E. Russell, Lorraine Spiller, and Jeanette Woods. Seniors who will receive the School "P" include Sylvia Astor, Margaret Alexander, Shirley Berry, Marjorie Brewer, Iris Franklin, Katherine Graff, Mary Kell, Betty Quinn, Alice Saunders, Agnes Ward, and Joan Zukunft.

Juniors who are to receive numerals "1940" are nine in number: Cecile Albert, Ann Hersey, Alice Hinds, Evangeline Libby, Helen Stewart, Mary Tevanian, Armine Toroomian, Louise Tucker, and Helen Ward.

Six sophomores have rated from 100 to 150 points. They are Dorothy Bakiewicz, Anna Cavallaro, Catherine Forbes, Jessie Fowler, Teresa Niles, and Marion E. Smith. Betty Kirvan, freshman, has already won 150 points, a record in itself.
